

1466

For a single banquet in 1466 were required 1,000 sheep, 300 calves, 300 pigs, 200 kids, 100 oxen, together with over 10,000 birds of one sort or another 4,000 baked torts and 2,000
custards; but no vegetables

1466

By the treaty of THORN in 1466, West Prussia was absorbed into Poland and Teutonic Knights were left in East Prussia, but held it only as a fief of the Polish Crown.

1466

Francesco Sforza died.
Treaty of Thorn; Teutonic Knights retain East Prussia only, as feud of Poland.

1466

1912 Dates J-BK

Peace of THORN, ended war between Prussia and Poland.

This was Poland's greatest extent.

1466

Prussia is a fief of POLAND